MR. DELANO'S SUCCESSOR.

Mr. Chandler Accepts the Position.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—It was early this morning announced that Ex-Senator Chandler had concluded to accept the position of Secretary of the Interior tendered him by the President, and at noon he took the oath and repaired to the office of the Department. The appointment is the subject of much comment, and does not give the most perfect satisfaction in Republican circles.

The Red Cloud Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The Red Cloud Investigating Commission have made their report. The evidence taken comprises over 800 octavo pages. The Commission sustain the charge of incompetency against Indian Agent Saville, but exonerate him from the imputation of dishonesty. The Commission finds the army officers agree with Prof. Marsh in the belief that the number of Indians is greatly over estimated, but that the enumeration was made as fairly as possible. On the beef question, which occupies a large part of the report, the commission is of the opinion that the mistake in estimating the weight of the cattle at 750 pounds. The Commissioners valued a herd of these same Texas cattle, which they thought would average 750 to 800 pounds, but on weighing them found that the average weight proved 1,053 pounds, many of the single steers weighing 1,300 pounds.

The Commission report that they have seen nothing in the course of their investigation that would lead to any other conclusion than that the present Commissioner endeavored earnestly and sincerely to perform his duty faithfully to the country. They have encountered no transaction which casts the least shadow upon his personal or official integrity, but met with many marked instances that want of vigilance, astuteness and decision of character that should belong to the head of that important Bureau.

The report is interspersed with such recommendations as strike the Commissioners as of importance, and they are summarized up as follows: That Agent Saville will be removed; that J. W. L. Slavens, J. H. Martin and D. J. McCann be excluded from future contracts with the Government; that E. R. Threlkeld be excluded from all future engagements as Inspector; that McCann's accounts be referred to the Department of Justice; that the distance from Red Cloud and Spotted Tail Agencies to Cheyenne and Sioux be measured without further delay; that a new census be taken of the Sioux at both those Agencies; that bids for flour, clothing and wagon transportation be received at some suitable point in the West; that the office of Superintendent of Indian Agencies be abolished, and the duties connected therewith be transferred to the Inspector; that the feasibility of dispensing with railroad freight contractors from New York to the West be considered; that army officers be detailed to inspect Indian supplies; that the system of keeping accounts be improved; that the Indian Agencies be graded, with reference to the salaries of the Agents; that Red Cloud and Spotted Tail Agencies be removed nearer the Missouri river; that a commission of army officers be appointed to consider the propriety of organizing an Indian military force; that similar duties; that a Territorial Government be established over Indian Territory; that suitable persons be appointed to prosecute all wrongs against the Indians, and to defend their rights as far as they may become the subject of adjudication before the Courts, and that future legislation be shaped with a view of bringing the Indians under the same laws which govern all other inhabitants of the Republic.

New York.

Business and Financial--Criminal Notes--Seizure of Laces--Failure, Etc.

New York, Oct. 19.—The Evening Post's money article says the weak open on Wall street with securities strong and higher, and with no change of importance in gold or foreign exchange. General trade up to the present time this season has been fairly good; buyers have been careful to take only such amounts as they could pay for, and collections have been excellent. It is a fact that prices of goods have never been so low, and that there have been heavy losses on them to manufacturers; fair profits have, however, been made on goods after leaving manufacturers' or their agents' hands. As to how trade will hold on remains to be seen. The hand to mouth policy of buying should extend business over a larger period of time. The course of financial affairs during the winter depends very much on the export trade of the country. We have raised an immense crop of cotton and cereals. If these crops can be moved to market, and we can, without obstruction, ship to Europe all that it will take, the winter should be satisfactory. If the crops are held back, or are kept back, which may be the case from a variety of reasons, the affairs may take a turn between this and spring, such as would not be welcomed. The withdrawal of currency from New York to the West and South during the past two weeks indicates a large movement of crops, and is, for reasons we have noted, the most encouraging sign of the times. Referring to the exchange market it says, as we have all along maintained, that the only relief to the exchange market and to the export trade is the considerable increase in the stock of specie here, which is down to what it is by reason of the Treasury policy under the legislation of the last Congress. It is a matter of the first importance to every interest in the country that exports that the trade should be free from the embargo, which grows out of the present scarcity of gold. The receipts of gold from London thus far have been small, but San Francisco is beginning to send considerable amounts, shipments from there during the last six days, including today, having been $1,489,500.

At a meeting of the depositors of the insolvent Third Avenue Savings Bank, to reorganize the bank and run it for the benefit of depositors, held today, they claim that the institution can be made self-supporting, and this would enable the receiver to hold the real estate until higher prices can be obtained.

The Latest Way.

The traveling agents who visit Vicksburg have a new and improved way of getting at business. The other day, when one rapped at a door it was opened but an inch or two, and the woman called out:

"Don't want anything!"

"Madam," called the agent, "you have a sister?"

"Yes," was the answer, and the door opened a little more.

"And you have not heard from her lately?"

"No."

"Then you don't know that—that she is dead?"

The woman opened wide the door, and excitedly asked:

"What is it? What has happened to her?"

"Then you haven't heard?"

"No—no—is Lucy dead?"

"Your sister, madam, is not dead, but—"

"But what?" she wildly inquired, as she stepped up beside her, and then at the sight of his super-magical bluing of me, and earnestly entreats you to try at least one box—price, fifteen cents."

She didn't appreciate his trick, and as he passed under the gate, she glanced down at her feet, and then at his coat-tail, and sighed: "Oh, I wish I weighed a ton!"—Vicksburg Herald.

Mr. Conway's Lecture.

The well-known literary gentleman, Mr. M. D. Conway, inaugurated the lecture season at Pike's Music Hall last evening. He was greeted by prolonged applause as he made his appearance upon the stage, being introduced by the audience by Judge Hoody. He introduced his subject, "London," by referring to the manner so common to all Americans who go abroad of treating London merely as a depot, where they had only time to stop and take refreshments. He gave a history of the growth of the city, enlarged some art among the English, and gave some very amusing illustrations of the conservative character of the Londoner. It was an able lecture and both amused and instructed his auditors.

Amusements.

WOOD'S THEATRE.—"Col. Mulberry Sellers" drew a large audience last evening. Mr. Macaulay's little house being literally jammed. It is not worth while to say that J. T. Raymond, as the "Colonel" was good or great or anything of that kind—it would be superfluous; one might as well begin at this late date to say that Jefferson's "Rip Van Winkle" was good. At all events, Mr. Raymond enacted "Col. Sellers." The "Laura Hawkins" of Miss Nellie Comings was a splendid piece of acting, and the probability is that the want of a good leading lady at this theatre will be no longer felt. Mr. Craven fairly excelled himself as the old dandy "Elder Duntress"; it was a talented piece of acting, and won for Mr. Craven many hearty and well-deserved rounds of applause. "Col. Sellers" to-night and every night this week.

THE GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—Only a fair audience assembled at this house last night to witness one of the best mounted pieces that has been put upon our stage for years. If the acting had not been of the very best, the scenery and accessories would have amply repaid one for a visit to the Grand, but the acting was of the very best, Chanfrau's "Rit" being one of the finest pieces of acting that we have ever seen, and Messrs. Fiske and Bradley, the two bumpers, were immense. There will be a ladies' cheap matinee at this house tomorrow afternoon, when the ever popular and sensational drama of "East Lynne" will be produced with the following powerful cast:

Lady Isabel..... Miss G. De Forrest
Laura Hale..... Miss Julia Hancock
Mrs. H. P. Graham..... Mrs. H. P. Graham
Joyce..... Mrs. Nelson Kneass
Wilson..... Miss Fannie Lee
William..... Miss N. N. N. N.
Sir Francis Levison..... Mr. Mark Price
Archibald Carlyle..... Mr. Frank Roche
Mr. M. Severn..... A. Menie
Richard Hays..... Harry Pierson
Meredith..... Mr. Mason
Mr. Dill..... Harry Vance

"Rit" again to-night.

THE NATIONAL.—This house was well filled last evening, the attraction being the sensational drama, "Wild Bill." The play was well put on and finely acted, some of the characters being especially good. The same programme for to-night.

A good deal of money was made last season catching frogs for the New York market. One man in one month caught 1,600 pounds of dressed frogs, for which he got thirty cents a pound, making $480 for his month's work. Part of the time he had two boys to help him. Last week, near Hudson, he caught upwards of 500 pounds and sold them for $193, at an average of thirty-two cents per pound.
